Mr. Thomas Kelley, Ass't. Dir.
U. S. Secret Service
Washington, D.C.

Dear Tom,

The Archives has sent me two lists of documents made available following the 1970 review. One is by CD number only, disclosing nothing else. The second part of the other, a list of CDs from which some material had been withheld, is restricted to your control numbers in six CDs. For the most part, these lists are entirely meaningless without the expenditure of considerable time and money by researchers and for those far from Washington, great cost.

If you have any meaningful identification of what you declassified, I'd appreciate a copy. If these relate to the questions I asked of you at our first meeting, those also I would like to know. You may recall that for the most part, you have not yet responded to them.

As of our last mention of it, you still could not relate all your control numbers to either CDs or CMs. I do hope you can at some point have this done and make it available to the Archives and to researchers who might ask for it. I certainly would like a copy, and I know others who would. I would, in fact, make my copy, if I had one, available and thus save considerable time within the government.

Should you ever read some of what has been declassified other than by your agency, and read with care, you might get the feeling that some of your boys were had. Any other interpretation is less kind to your boys.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
